

Selecting Reading Material

In addition to using a readability formula and/or leveling procedure, it is also important to consider a student's:

- prior knowledge
- past experience
- interest in the subject
- familiarity with the material age

Other factors to consider include:

- book length
- book size
- illustrations/graphics
- type size/spacing
- print layout